Dear Theodore,

One of our staff members, Erica Brough, recently was quoted as saying: “Sometimes there are kids who need a little ‘extra.’ We don’t view that as a bad thing. We don’t expect all kids to be the same.”

Her colleague Amanda Carroll noted: “[Kids] need to know we’re here for them and aren’t going to give up.”

Theodore, your gift of $500.00 helps provide the “little extra” that can make a BIG difference. We’re grateful to you for giving children time and space to succeed and caring adults who won’t give up on their potential.

As Erica notes, all kids are different, and the extra support they need takes different forms. It could include advice on how to make friends, persistent reminders regarding appropriate behavior, guidance on how to manage big feelings or simply an extra high five on a bad day.

Our staff persevere day in and day out for the reward of seeing children happy and thriving among their peers. This makes members much more likely to grow up to become caring, productive and responsible adults.

It wouldn’t be possible without your support! Thank you.

Sincerely,

Christopher Emond, CEO
